

Ask don't tell!

Developing independent thinking skills in children and young people

Halton Educational Psychology Team

Tuesday 5th February 2018

9.30am – 4pm

Select Security Stadium

Lunch Included

£80

Suitable for teaching assistants and teachers in primary and secondary settings

For further information please contact:

michelle.kittles@halton.gov.uk

To book a place please contact:

nicola.baldry@halton.gov.uk

This one-day workshop looks at how you can 'mediate' or scaffold children's learning experiences to create more independent and successful learners.

We will cover how to:

- phrase questions, make links and give prompts
- make children more aware of the thinking skills they are using
- encourage a 'growth mindset' so that they can embrace challenge in their learning.

Techniques are applicable to learners of all abilities but especially children and young people with special educational needs.

You will leave the day with:

- Mediation learning techniques to use in the classroom
- Child-friendly ways to talk about thinking skills
- Ideas for how to develop a growth mindset in the children you work with.